

King George's Park Junior and Toddler Playground Improvements Consultation

As part of the King George's Park Management and Maintenance Plan Consultation carried out in 2018*, you were asked for your views on play provision for children.

The results demonstrated that the King George's Park Junior and Toddler Playground is highly valued, but that the play equipment is in a deteriorating condition and that there is a clear need to renew play provision at the existing site. As a result, funds have been allocated via the S106 scheme to secure enhancements at this site. The S106 scheme pays for new and improved community facilities using funding collected from private development projects in the surrounding area.

Based on the assessment of the play equipment that is in most need of replacement, three designs have been developed. The style and height of any new equipment will have to be sympathetic to the area and it will have to be appropriate for the age range of intended use. For King George's Park Junior and Toddler Playground the intended age range is for children aged up to 16 years.

We would now like to hear your views to help decide on the final design for the refurbished playground.

What happens next?

Once this consultation has closed, all of the feedback will be carefully considered to decide on the final design.

Whilst every attempt will be made to construct the final design to plan, certain elements may have to be altered during the implementation stage due to unforeseen technical or logistical issues.
